HOW TO PLAY

Nanofictionary is a story-telling game in three rounds. In the first phase, everyone builds a collection of story elements, featuring at least one of each type. Next, players take turns telling a brief story based on the ideas in the set of cards they selected. Lastly, everyone votes for the story they liked best (besides their own). Whoever gets the most votes wins!

- Create stories with Nanofictionary cards and compete to have the best one
- A great game of storytelling - no campfire needed!
- Aids creative writing & storytelling skills - you can even use the cards as writing prompts
- Nanofictionary never plays the same way twice
